

TOASTS TO KING AND PRESIDENT

Englishmen Help Americans Celebrate in London.

DINNER AT HOTEL CECIL

FINE TRIBUTE TO THE LATE SECRETARY HAY.

London, July 8.—The belated dinner of the American society in celebration of the Fourth of July, which was held tonight, was the first occasion of a public meeting between Whitehall and the Foreign Minister Lansdowne since Mr. Reid's appointment as ambassador to Great Britain, and both Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Reid delivered speeches in which the services of the late secretary of State Hay to the world, and the good relations existing between Great Britain and America, were the keynote. The dinner was held in the banquet hall of the Hotel Cecil, which was crowded with resident and visiting Americans and representative Englishmen.

Marshall O. Fox, president of the society, presided. Mr. Reid sat at the right and Lord Lansdowne at the left of Mr. Fox. Other prominent persons present included the German ambassador, Lord Strathmore, Rev. William MacDonald Sinclair, archdeacon of London, and Rear Admiral Watson, U. S. N.

Two Toasts.

The chairman proposed a toast to King Edward. He was followed by Lord Lansdowne, who toasted President Roosevelt. Lord Lansdowne said that among the great statesmen of America he does not know of any one who held a greater fascination for Englishmen than President Roosevelt. Referring to the good relations between England and the United States, Lord Lansdowne said that Englishmen were satisfied that any differences between the two countries would be settled in a reasonable manner, and there was no reason why America and England should not march hand in hand.

President Roosevelt stood before the world as an apostle of peace, having recently returned from his great service to civilization in bringing together the two belligerents in the far east, and the convocation of a conference to mitigate the consequences of war.

President Roosevelt also, he said, had the faculty of seeing the noble side of personal affairs to help him in his great work.

Tribute to Hay.

Lord Lansdowne said President Roosevelt had in Secretary Hay a colleague beloved of all countries, a man who stood for all that was noble, and that he would treasure for the remainder of his life the fact that Mr. Hay, while in England, was good enough to have the noble side of his relations and the task before the two countries, Lord Lansdowne said: "Let us hope that the noble side will never be wanting in such men."

The chairman then proposed the health of Ambassador Reid. Mr. Reid, in reply, proposed a toast to "The day we celebrate and those who honor it." He said:

"At this belated and saddened celebration of the national birthday, my first words must be devoted to the memory of the late John Hay, who served with Lincoln and McKinley, and who has the honor of another beloved president and gone to his martyr's chief. His works need no praise now. He served his country here as ambassador, and has since served the world as secretary of state of America. Talleyrand called himself a 'Good European.' With better right we may call John Hay a good citizen of the civilized world. But his fine spirit would not be for his own glory. We might postpone, but for the glory of him we could not abandon the day which is the birthday of the nation which he passionately loved, and to which he gave his life. Life the great secretary, we are glad and proud we are Americans. Like him, we are glad and proud, too, that when the birthday overtakes in the old world we have a home like this to commemorate under the kindly eyes of a nation kindred and friend."

Signs of Friendship.

Mr. Reid, after saying that the Fourth of July was ceasing to be merely a national holiday, but gave signs of belonging to the world, and the increasing signs of friendship between the United States and the rest of the world.

"I would be ungracious not to remember the constant, hearty and helpful friendship of President Roosevelt, great statesman and diplomat, European king of Great Britain. From the day when, as a young prince, he visited the United States, his frank good will for America, his appreciation of our people and our way of thinking, and his good relations with us."

Mr. Reid concluded with an appreciation of President Roosevelt, saying: "At this moment the whole world applauds the bold act and skillful statesmanship which have brought us to this day for two of our friends out of ghastly

POWERFUL LEVER IN JAPS' HANDS

How the Capture of Sakhalin Is Regarded in St. Petersburg.

MAY HURT PEACE PROSPECT

RUSSIANS EXPECTED TO RELINQUISH THE ISLAND.

St. Petersburg, July 10, 2 a. m.—With the Japanese flag hoisted for the first time on Russian soil after eighteen months of war, the importance of the landing on the island of Sakhalin is generally admitted, both in newspaper comment and in government circles. Complete occupation of the island is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

The Novaya Zemlya voices the general sentiment in holding that control of Sakhalin puts a powerful lever in the hands of the Japanese, which finally has something tangible in its hands to throw upon the scales with the sword in the coming conference.

Effect Problematical.

There is a divergence of opinion with regard to the effect it will have upon the negotiations at Washington, some of the irreconcilable declaring that it makes peace at the present juncture more impossible than before, as Japan has been placed, to secure any additional evidence regarding the case. It was decided that more evidence might be secured in New York, and in the hopes of doing so, Mr. Cheatham went there for that purpose. After working together in close touch with the Japanese, Mr. Cheatham has not only a number of persons who were supposed to know something about the case, but also, and after having fully gone over the ground and examined each one who had been in the secret service, agent and Mr. Cheatham, could possibly have any connection with the affair, Mr. Cheatham left New York.

Was to See Price.

"Before leaving he had a long conference with the secret service agent, who expected to leave a few hours later. During the conference a full discussion of the matter was had and Mr. Cheatham insisted that the secret service agent should see Theodore Price before leaving the city, for the purpose of finding out what connection he had with the case if any, as his name had been mentioned in one of the letters submitted as evidence.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

PRICE OF NO VALUE IN DEAL

New York Broker Has Asked Secretary Wilson to Retract.

LATTER THINKING ABOUT IT

LATEST PHASE OF COTTON CROP REPORT SCANDAL.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Theodore H. Price, of New York, arrived in Washington today and through his attorney requested Secretary Wilson to withdraw what Mr. Price characterized as the "unjust, offensive and unsubstantiated charge and implication" contained in the report made public yesterday in connection with the removal of Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., the assistant statistician at the department of agriculture. The secretary has Mr. Price's request under consideration.

Cheatham's Statement.

Meantime Mr. Price secured from Richard Cheatham the following signed statement:

Mr. Cheatham states that after evidence which had been furnished to Secretary Wilson was turned over to the secret service department his services were enlisted by the department to assist the men in whose charge the matter was placed, to secure any additional evidence regarding the case. It was decided that more evidence might be secured in New York, and in the hopes of doing so, Mr. Cheatham went there for that purpose. After working together in close touch with the Japanese, Mr. Cheatham has not only a number of persons who were supposed to know something about the case, but also, and after having fully gone over the ground and examined each one who had been in the secret service, agent and Mr. Cheatham, could possibly have any connection with the affair, Mr. Cheatham left New York.

Was to See Price.

"Before leaving he had a long conference with the secret service agent, who expected to leave a few hours later. During the conference a full discussion of the matter was had and Mr. Cheatham insisted that the secret service agent should see Theodore Price before leaving the city, for the purpose of finding out what connection he had with the case if any, as his name had been mentioned in one of the letters submitted as evidence. Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

HEARTY WELCOME GIVEN THE ELKS

Thousands of Delegates Arrived in Buffalo Yesterday.

CITY IS GAILY DECORATED

BOOMS LAUNCHED FOR NEXT CONVENTION.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 9.—Thousands of delegates to the nineteenth annual reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks arrived here today and were given a hearty welcome as they marched through the gaily decorated streets. Every delegation was met by a section of the reception committee and a band and escorted to their quarters. The automobile club of Buffalo entertained the grand lodge members today and gave them a delightful ride through the city's parks and avenues and along the Niagara frontier.

With the arrival of prominent members of the order many booms have been launched for the honor of entertaining the Elks in 1906. Denver, Dallas and Atlanta City are represented by enthusiastic advocates of the club of their respective cities for next year's convention. Ex-Grand Exalted Ruler O'Brien and Grand Exalted Ruler Fanning have returned from Toronto, where they went to consult over the proposition to admit Canadian Elks to the order. The plan does not favor absolute affiliation, but places the two orders on a brotherly basis. It provides for social intimacy between members of the two orders, and the secret service agent and Mr. Cheatham, could possibly have any connection with the affair, Mr. Cheatham left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas that he (Haas) did not know Mr. Price and had not seen him since he left New York.

Mr. Cheatham was informed by the secret service agent that he had not been able to secure any evidence from any one that would in the least connect Mr. Price with the affair, and that he had been told by Mr. Haas